The stock in trade of groceries, confectionery, etc., belonging to W. G. Ibbotson, will be sold by auction commencing at 8 o'clock p.m., on Wednesday, Sept. 5.

OVER one hundred signatures have already been placed on the petition to the town council to grant $1,000 to a general hospital. The signatures are all those of ratepayers.

MR. WALSH, the veteran fur buyer, ships the balance of his furs on to-morrow's train and leaves for a six week's vacation, during which he will rusticate in California.

The final returns from the educational department in regard to High School Entrance examinations report that in addition to the names already published Miss Winnifred Shand has been given her standing as having passed the examination.

G. CARTER, arrived from Saskatoon with 107 head of cattle last Friday night which he is offering for sale on the south side of the river near Dowling's farm. Most of the cattle are milch cows, but among them are several pure bred West Highland cattle. He will be there for a week.

A. L. BRICK, son of Rev. Mr. Brick, of Christ Church mission, Peace river, arrived from Toronto where he has been on a six weeks' visit, last Thursday. He left for the north on Saturday evening, taking with him about 9,000 pounds of freight which he will put on boats at Athabasca Landing. His journey will take about two weeks.

We are in receipt of a copy of the "Masque Dance," a pretty little schottische composed by Mrs. Madge A. H. Doughty, of Calgary. This is said to be the first piece of music that has been written and printed wholly in the Northwest Territories and is meeting with a large sale. It is published by Linton Bros. at 40c. per copy.

THREE potatoes from Luke Demko's farm, Sandy Lake, were left at this office this morning. They weigh 1lb. 7oz., 1lb. 9oz. and 1lb. 11oz. respectively. Several very large ones were also left. Mr. Lambertson of Minneapolis, Kansas, has been presented with them to take to Kansas where he says, if people want believe newspaper reports they will at last believe what they see.

MR. RUDOLPH BACH, correspondent of several German newspapers, visited Fort Saskatchewan and the German settlements beyond, last Thursday. He was very favorably impressed with the agricultural possibilities of the district and says that he will devote a good deal of his writing to the town of Edmonton and the country surrounding it when he forwards his letter to Germany. He left on Friday intending to stay off at Leduc or Wetaskiwin. From there he goes direct to Regina, then to Prince Albert and Winnipeg. He will also visit southern Manitoba, and the Rainy river district before returning.

F. B. BRUNGARDT and Franz Brungardt, a delegation from the German settlements at Victoria, Kansas, arrived on Thursday's train and are staying at the Columbia. F. B. Brungardt is a colonization agent in the States and has travelled through twenty-eight States; but in all his travels he has never seen a district as good for all purposes as the district here. He says that it is undoubtedly the nicest country he has seen in his life. For a long time he had heard reports of this country and read pamphlets in regard to it, but looked upon the statements contained therein, and the statements of the newspapers as being over boastful. In comparison with Kansas, he says this is "the Garden of Eden." His co-delegate Franz is as much impressed with the country as he is. On Friday they viewed the gardens in town, visited the coal mines, and conversed with the gold washers. On Saturday they drove out to St. Albert and left for Otawskiwin yesterday. They leave for Lacombe on Tuesday's train. Both are agreed in the statement that everybody will leave Kansas who can.

SCHOOL and bank holiday.

H. FISCH has returned to town and is looking for a suitable stand to engage in the harness business.

W. YOUNG, who has been in this vicinity for the past six weeks, representing Bole Wynne & Co. of Winnipeg, leaves on to-morrow's train.

REV. D. G. McQUEEN leaves for McLeod on to-morrow's train to attend a meeting of the Presbytery, which opens at that place on Wednesday. The following week he will attend the meeting of the Synod in Vancouver. During his absence his pulpit will be filled by local missionaries.

MR. S. PARISH, South Edmonton, has returned from a six week's trip to Fort McLeod, Calgary and other distant points where he has been interviewing buyers relative to the purchase of oats and coal and other marketable products. He returned on Thursday, accompanied by his daughter Bertha of Calgary.

CHAS. E. ROBERTSON, the Dominion government steamboat inspector, has returned to Winnipeg after making an inspection of the steamers on the northwestern lakes and the Saskatchewan river. A Free Press reporter, who had an interview with him on his return, says: "He brought back with him some curious specimens of conglomerate rocks, petrified wood from the hearts of some big trees, coal from the mines at Edmonton and sandstone. Building a boat at Edmonton, he followed the Saskatchewan river and was exposed to two very severe thunder storms, one of which lasted four days and the other two. For four days he journeyed in wet clothes, but on the fifth day the sun came out and he dried himself. For 300 miles he never saw a human being and thinks it possible to have too much of the Alexander Selkirk style of life. Along the banks of the Athabasca, said Mr. Robertson, a kind of coal tar lies on the surface in large deposits. Black liquid and strong smelling. The people boil it down and use it for tarring their boats."

A LETTER forwarded to J. Fletcher, Dominion entomologist, relative to the seventeen year locust, has elicited the following reply: "I do not think it would be safe to record this insect as occurring with you, without actually seeing the specimens. It is extremely unlikely that the species was the true so-called seventeen year locust (Cicada septendecim), and indeed I am quite doubtful whether it has occurred anywhere in Canada except on the extreme southern border of Ontario. The green one you mention as found in Ontario, is the Cicada canicularis, or dog-day Cicada. There is another species which answers to your description, rather similar to the last named, which is called Cicada tibicen. The seventeen year locust is intermediate in size between these two, and is bright orange-red and black in color. I am sorry you have lost the specimens, as it would have been a valuable scientific record to know exactly which species you caught. Without knowing all three species very well it would be impossible for anyone to name them from the song alone."

MRS. EMMA SHAW COLCLOUGH, adventurer and lecturer, left on Friday's train for Regina on her way to Winnipeg. Mrs. Colcough is on her return home from the delta of the McKenzie river, within the Arctic circle, where she has been on a trip for pleasure and profit. Her trip occupied a little over three months and was one of interest throughout, although she does not by any means recommend others to take it if they only seek for pleasure. Mrs. Colcough left Athabasca Landing on May 28th by the H. B. Co.'s steamer Athabasca, proceeding down the river to Grand Rapids where open boats, termed sturgeon heads, manned by Indians, took them over the 97 miles of rapids that intervene between there and Ft. McMurry. At Ft. McMurry the S. S. Graham was taken via Ft. Chipewyan connecting with the S. S. Wrigley at Ft. Smith. From Smith's Landing Mrs. Colcough made a side trip of 300 miles up the Peace river as far as what is known as the shoots. This trip has never been heretofore made by any lady traveller, neither indeed has the trip to the delta of the McKenzie with one exception, that of Miss Taylor, daughter of Consul Taylor, who made the trip three years ago. A trip up Peel river as far as Ft. McPherson was another side trip of more than passing interest made by this lady. At the delta of the McKenzie Mrs. Colcough experienced the novelty of entering the snow huts of the Esquimaux and seeing the interior of these primitive abodes of habitation, the entrance to which is so small that visitors must go down on their knees to enter. Mrs. Colcough found entering these huts much easier than getting out, for after she had entered the husky dogs, curious about the intention of her presence, persisted in keeping their noses inside the doorway and making the air vibrate with their lusty bark. The mode of travel in this district is exclusively by dog sled, the Esquimaux using them to bring their wares from the coast up the narrow strips of land where the McKenzie enters itself, to trade at the H. B. posts. Mrs. Colcough will use her experience here for illustrating lecture and magazine work. She took over 200 photos with her kodak and also secured ivory ornaments from the Esquimaux, bone knives, used for cutting snow to make huts with, spear heads, pipes, arrows, drums, etc. These she will keep as mementos of her trip. In returning, the waters of the Athabasca were very low, necessitating her being thirteen days in the open boats instead of a day and a half. Her many friends in Winnipeg are anxious, awaiting her return. They will find her looking exceedingly well and very much sunburnt, a vindictiveness that the chinooks of this western clime take especial delight in inflicting upon the eastern fair.

GRASSHOPPERS are reported to have attacked the potatoes vines at Fort Smith and done considerable damage to gardens.

TOMCOK five feet in height was one of the novelties of the district reported by Mr. Lambertson of Kansas who was out visiting the Stony Plain mission.

THE Salvation Army held their harvest thanksgiving procession on Saturday night, and services on Sunday. To-night they will auction off the fruits of the earth donated for the festival.

ONE of the industries of the Loucheux Indians is to gather the eggs of wild fowl in the spring, put them down in seal oil and sell to traders. If they have chickens in them so much the better for present use. The Indians are not fond of fresh eggs.

THE Clay county, Kansas, representatives who drove out to the Beaver lake district are so pleased with the country that every one of them took up homesteads and have decided to stay. They say that the crops in this vicinity are the finest they ever saw in their lives. Such cabbages, turnips, roots and grains they never saw anywhere else. Their homesteads are situated all together near Sick Man's lake, about six miles this side of Beaver lake. Homesteads for 15 were taken up as other families are sure to follow. The names of those already here are G. Bauer, J. Millie and son, G. Hackney, R. McGregor, E. Postle, Geo. Dipple, N. Mullen and C. Lewis.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPTEMBER 28th, 1894.

NORTHWEST ASSEMBLY.

REGINA, August 25th.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Haultain at Banff, whither he had gone to confer with the minister of the interior and the lieutenant governor, a great deal of the business set down for the day was passed over.

The bill to incorporate the parishes of the church of England diocese of Saskatchewan was passed through committee of the whole.

The bill to amend and consolidate the municipal ordinance was considered in committee.

Davidson chairman of the select committee appointed to consider the ordinance, said that the committee had made a number of amendments to the bill as introduced, but that throughout its greater part and in essential particulars the bill was the same.

Oliver said that a comparison of the bill introduced by Haultain, read a second time and referred to the select committee with the bill now before the committee led him to believe that instead of the bill having been amended by the committee a new bill had been substituted for it, differing from it in principles and details. The select committee had not had time to make the changes involved in the substituted bill and give them that careful attention the importance of the subject demanded. The house being unacquainted with the new principles introduced would be in a still worse position to ensure that the bill when passed would be satisfactory and workable. It would be far safer and better to deal directly with the consolidation introduced by Mr. Haultain, with the provisions contained in which most of the members were familiar, and which could therefore be amended more intelligently by the committee than the new ordinance with which they were not familiar. He moved that the committee refer back to section one of the bill for the purpose of considering the bill as introduced by Mr. Haultain.

Davidson said that the select committee had given the bill most careful attention and that it would be found much easier to deal with than the consolidation originally introduced.

Mowat explained that he had taken an active part in framing the provisions for the bill now in committee. That he had adopted provisions from the municipal act of Manitoba, the municipal act of Ontario, the charter incorporating the city of Calgary and the former municipal ordinance. The arrangement of the sections was much better under the present bill than under the one introduced by Mr. Haultain.

The motion to revert to the bill as introduced was defeated by a vote of 8 to 7.

The consideration of the bill was then continued in committee during the afternoon.

MONDAY, August 27th.

Oliver presented petition from certain residents of Olds and from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Edmonton asking for the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

The bill incorporating the church of England diocese of Saskatchewan was read a third time.

Pages's bill to prevent trespass upon cultivated or enclosed lands in pursuit of game was read a second time, the second reading being carried by a large majority.

Dill's bill making slight amendments to the ordinance respecting unincorporated towns was read a second time.

The municipal bill was considered in committee of the whole, during the afternoon and evening session.

TUESDAY, August 28th.

Betts introduced a bill respecting judgment debtors.

Oliver moved "That it is desirable that legislation be passed to prohibit the traffic in intoxicating liquors in the Northwest Territories." In support of the motion he said that when the liquor license ordinance was being passed by the house three years ago not a single petition had been sent in against it. This would seem to indicate that the people at that time were disposed to believe that the proposed license system would be an improvement over the prohibitory law as it had existed. With three years experience of license the feeling against it had grown at least to the proportions indicated by the petitions which had been presented to the house at this session. For his own part he believed that the sale of intoxicating liquor had increased greatly under the liquor traffic and that the evils of the traffic had increased proportionately. Believing that the liquor traffic was an evil, he felt it to be his duty as a member of the house charged with full responsibility of legislating on this matter, to move the resolution.

Cauley opposed a prohibitory law because such a law could only be enforced by giving the mounted police the right of such in houses.

Mowat moved in amendment to the resolution that the license law should remain until a plebiscite had been taken. He spoke in favor of a plebiscite.

McKay favored a plebiscite.

Dill seconded the original motion, but thought if it could not be carried a plebiscite would be the next best thing.

Magrath was a total abstainer, but would not vote against both motion and amendment.

Betts would vote against both motion and amendment and moved in amendment to the amendment that the license law remain until the Dominion royal commission on the liquor traffic reports.

Davidson seconded the amendment to the amendment.

The amendment to the amendment was lost by a vote of 15 to 5. The amendment was carried by a vote of 14 to 6, defeating the resolution.

Magrath moved the first reading of a bill to incorporate the Galt hospital at Lethbridge.

Dill—Page moved a resolution asking the Dominion government to assume control of C. P. R. lands in the Northwest with a view to issuing hay permits on them. At present hay on C. P. R. lands was cut without permit, which created confusion.

Davidson and Oliver opposed and the resolution was defeated.

Jelly moved a resolution to the effect that government contracts for local supplies required should be let in such quantities as would permit the producer to supply the articles direct.

Several small bills were concluded in committee of the whole.

The bill granting aid to agricultural societies was considered. Grants are made to societies of 50 members or over which have held an exhibition within the year. Returns showing membership, fees and exhibition held are to be made by Oct. 20th. The aid is a percentage of an amount equal to the membership fees paid in but may not exceed $150.

THE ARBITRATION.

James Gibbons, sworn says (to Mr. Emery) I am a merchant in Edmonton and have resided here 29 years. I have bought real estate here; but have not had a very large experience. I have an opinion about real estate and can give it and am not interested in any of the property on this street. (Looks at plan below.) If there was no outlet to block X and the pink block, it would be of very little value. It would be worth from $400 to $500. With McDougall St. extended, I would make 5 lots at $250 and one lot at $500. The balance of block X would be worth about $100. Lots on McDougall street extension would be worth each $50 more than lots on McDougall street north of Jasper Avenue. If McDougall street was not extended; but the assumed trail going through by Cameron's was open, the value of the block would be worth $1200 to $1500. It would be worth about $200 per lot. I would make lots 50 feet frontage and running back to lane. The first lot, being the most westerly I would value at $100 extra. I would make 6 or 7 lots at that price; but with the trail a street and McDougall St. extended, block X would be worth several hundred more, because the most southerly lot being the corner, would be worth from $800 to $1000. With McDougall street extended and the trail open, block X is increased by having both, $500. With McDougall street extension open and no trail, block X is increased to a degree more than the value of the pink block. The difference would be $1000 at least in favor of McDougall's property. With McDougall St. extension open and also the trail open, I think that block X is increased to a greater extent than the value of the pink block.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. If lot 1 and 16 feet off block A, R. L. 6 was a street and also the trail, (supposed to exist) the value of the pink block and block A would be more valuable than with the trail alone, to the extent of $200 I think. With lot 1 and 16 feet next thereto a street and also the trail, the block X and the pink block would be a desirable site for a public building and a hotel. The pink block and the backs of lots 1, 2, and 3, R. L. 8 would be worth $900. The balance would be increased $100. My store is on the rear of P, Daly's property. This block X is a very nice piece of property. Lots in block X with the trail only a street, (lots fronting the trail) would be worth $25 each more than Rice St. lots. The opening of McDougall street would benefit all property on Jasper Avenue centering at that point

Re-examined by Mr. Emery. The value of the pink block without an outlet is worth $200 to $300 (Mr. Bown submits that this is not the measure of damages).

The arbitrators then adjourned until Thursday at 2 p. m. when the first witness called was T. W. Chalmers.

To Mr. Emery he said. I am a surveyor duly appointed and commissioned. I made to-day measurement from A to B on block X. The distance is 85 feet from C to D on pink block to brow of hill is 66 feet. Provided a trail exists, having for its southern boundary the brow of the hill, and being 66 feet wide, then it would run 20 feet 6 inches on the south side of the front of block X. But it is not a settled fact that the trail runs along the bank. It would be necessary to run 14 feet 8 inches along the lane from point "A", before a lot fronting on the trail would be 100 feet in length. The intersection of the present travelled trail is 85 feet west on the southerly boundary of the lane from the point "A".

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. The value of block X and the pink block without an opening should be $1000. With the trail, the value would be increased, say to a value between $5000 and $6000. The fact that lot 1 and the adjoining 16 feet, being a street also, the value of the (taken block) would not be increased. It might make the pink block more valuable. The area of block X and pink, exclusive of the supposed trail would be 1 1/2 acres

Re-examined by Mr. Emery. I have not bought or sold any property in Edmonton of late. It has been some time since I invested in Edmonton property. Property has not decreased in value this last year; but sales are not as readily made. The trail alone, if it exists, is worth $2000 to block X and the pink block. Without the trail, I think it could be sold for $3000 to-day. I think I would give this sum for it without the opening to Jasper Avenue. I would get my money out of it by making outlets. I would make the McDougall street extension and the trail. If I could get the west side owners of McDougall street to give enough, I would make the extension straight; but would make it as expropriated if I could not secure the other concession. The fact of making the McDougall street extension as shown on the plan would be a benefit to block X to the extent of $700 or $800. This is true even with the supposed trail existing, and upon my own valuations as above give. If I were the owner of pink block and block X I would give $700 to $1000 and the pink block to get a street to Jasper Avenue as where the extension of McDougall street meets Jasper Avenue. It would benefit west as Jasper Avenue as far as lot 15 R. L. 6. It would benefit the west more than the east on Jasper Avenue. The lots, being the pink block and two other lots 50 feet by the full length as before described with no trail other than lot 1 and the adjoining 16 feet as a street only the three lots would be reduced each $100. I would value lots fronting on McDougall street extension more, by $50 each, than on the trail with no extension of McDougall street. Block X derives an advantage from the opening of McDougall street that the Jasper Avenue property and other surrounding property does.

John A. McDougall sworn says. I came to Edmonton in 1876. I have had considerable transactions in real estate. Block X and the pink block without an outlet would be worth $1200 to $1500. This would be a fair liberal valuation. I think I would sell it to the owners of Jasper Ave. lots at that sum for vegetable gardens. With McDougall street extension alone, its value would be doubled. With the trail also, the value of block X would be increased; but the position of the trail governs the valuation to a great extent. With the trail alone, block X and the pink block are worth about $2000. The value of the pink block would not be equal to the increased value of block X with the two streets opened, by $1000 to $1200. The opening of McDougall street benefits the property adjoining it on Jasper Avenue. Block X receives a special benefit by the opening of McDougall street, say $1000 to $1200 and the Jasper Ave. property does not share in this benefit of $1000 to $1200. The benefit on Jasper Ave. would be confined most to the four corners on Jasper Avenue and from them west and east.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. By opening the street the public derive a benefit. The principle parties benefited would be the holders of Jasper Avenue property; but that to a very small extent. It kills the town to wards the west, lots 2 to 10, R. L. 8, also the lots on the opposite side of Jasper Avenue. Assuming that there is no trail, the corner of Queen street is benefited, also the property at the Alberta hotel and Jasper house. Block X is most benefited. Block A also receives a benefit in the same proportion as block X. With McDougall street opened, the lots 50x150 feet on this street, being sub-division of block X would be worth $400 each, there would be 6 lots. The balance of block X would be a cabbage garden. If there was no extension of McDougall street; but only the trail, the lots on the trail would be only very inferior residence lots; but with McDougall street extended only to include lot 1 and the 16 feet adjoining, the increase in the valuation of block X and the pink block would be $100 in all. With the two streets I could not estimate the value of block X.

indicated on plan. Exhibit F. I would not make any difference if the trail did not exist. I think the present market value of block X and the pink block is nearer $3000 than $4000 with no outlet; but if no outlet could be gotten, I would not give much for the blocks. Block X reaps a special benefit by McDougall street extension to the extent of $700 to $1000. This would be the benefit that the public generally and other surrounding property would not reap. This would be with or without a trail. There would be four lots, 40 feet front and one larger lot. The one on the lane would be worth $500, second lot $700, third $850, fourth $1000 fronting on the trail if exists. The balance of the block I do not care to value. It might be worth $2000.

Kenneth McDonald sworn said. I am stenographer and clerk in the office of S. S. & H. C. Taylor, barristers here. I know the signature on letter produced. It is that of David McDougall. (Letter filed Exhibit I).

Joseph H. Picard sworn said. I have been here some eight or nine years and have had a few real estate transactions. I have had occasion, until the last year in my business to enquire into the values of real estate. The pink block and block X without an outlet is worth $500 or $600. Block X with McDougall street extension is worth $2800 to $3000. With the trail as well $4000. Block X and the pink block without McDougall street, and with the trail is worth $1200. Block X and the pink block with no trail; but only lot 1 and 16 feet adjoining a street is worth $2000, because I could give the pink block as a street. The opening of McDougall street extension as shown on plan gives a special benefit to block X of $1200 to $1400 no matter whether the trail exists or not. Block Y below the hill also reaps a special value from the opening of McDougall street extension. Block X reaps a benefit of from $800 to $1000 more than the value of the pink block taken for a street.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. Block X and the pink block with the trail and lot 1 and 16 feet adjoining as streets are worth $2800 to $3000. The opening of McDougall street extension, as shown, I still think is a benefit to block X, even with the trail existing. Lots on Jasper Avenue are worth $40 per foot from lots 1 to 10, R. L. 8, from lots 1 to 10 in river lot 6, from $25 to $30 per foot. The Imperial bank corner and Garipey's corner do not benefit at present from the opening of McDougall street extension; it may later on. I don't think that it will make the other lots on river lots 6 & 8 on Jasper Avenue sell for more than they do. The opening of the McDougall extension will be a public benefit.

Re-examined by Mr. Emery. Block X would be worth $2800 to $3000 with lot 1 and the 16 feet a street, also with the trail, (Continued on Fourth Page.)

THE ARBITRATION.

because I would give the pink block as a street.

A. D. Osborne sworn said. I have been here 13 years and have been interested in real estate in Edmonton during that time to some little extent. Block X and the pink block without any outlet would be worth $200 to $300. With no trail and McDougall street opened as shown on plan, block X would be worth $2000. With the two outlets, I would add $500. With no trail, only lot 1 and the adjoining 16 feet as a street to the pink block and block X, I would value the two blocks at $1000. To do this, I would need to give the remaining 50 feet myself. Block Y below the hill is increased in value by the opening of McDougall street extension. Block X is benefited especially by $1000. I should add $500 to this sum with the trail as well. With the trail existing, block X would be specially benefited by the opening of McDougall street extension to the extent of $1000 more than the value of the pink block.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. A trail has existed along the bank and through by Cameron's store ever since I have been here. Cameron's store and Daly's building take off a small portion. There have been no other obstructions. With the trail only, the pink block and block X are worth $1000. Block A benefits as much as block X. This new street would benefit Jasper Avenue lots from 1 to 10 east.

Re-examined by Mr. Emery. Block A would not benefit as much as block X because block A has an outlet on Jasper Ave. and on the south as well. Block X derives a special benefit from the opening of McDougall street extension over and above the surrounding property.

Donald Ross sworn, said. I have been residing here 22 years and have dealt with real estate. Block X and the pink block with no outlet is worth $3000; but I assume that lot 1 and the 16 feet is an outlet. With no outlet whatever it is worth $1000. With the trail only $2000. With the trail and street by McDougall street extension, block X is worth $3000. With no trail but lot 1 and the 16 feet as a street the pink block and block X are worth $2400. I would make it worth that money by making the pink block a street. Block X is increased with no trail and with McDougall street extension it is worth 20 per cent more. Block X with no trail; but with the new street, alone reaps a special benefit of $1000 at least, with the trail also, it would benefit $600 by the new street. Block Y without the trail and without the new street is worth $75 per acre. With the trail and the new street block Y is increased in value 5 per cent.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. The opening of the new street benefits my estate and river lot 6, also McCauley's property. It is a benefit to the Jasper Avenue lots on river lot 8, also on river lot 6. I think it benefits the whole town as a public street. It increases the value of Jasper Avenue lots near the street. The trail, as spoken about has existed 22 years. With the trail, lot 1 and the 16 feet streets, the pink block and block X would be worth $3000. With the pink block taken away and made a street, block X would be worth $3000.

Re-examined by Mr. Emery. Part of Daly's store and about 18 feet of John Cameron's cover the trail.

The arbitrators then adjourned until 8 p. m. On being resumed Mr. W. S. Robertson was sworn.

To Mr. Emery he said. I have been a resident of Edmonton for 10 years and have been engaged in farming, as auctioneer, deputy sheriff, valuator and appraiser for loan companies. Block X and the pink block with no outlet if there were no outlets to Jasper Avenue. I might venture a few hundred dollars as a matter of speculation. I might venture $300 with the hope of purchasing an outlet. With McDougall street extension alone it would sell for $1500 to $1800. With McDougall street extension and the trail, I think block X to be worth $2150. With no trail, lot 1 and the adjoining 16 feet a street, block X and the pink block would be worth $1500 to $1600 because I would give the pink block as a street; but with the trail also a street the two blocks would be worth $2150. If I could get a 50 feet street by giving the pink block, I would make a difference of $350 to $500. I would deduct the sum. There would be $75 to a $100 of each lot in valuation. With no trail and McDougall street extension, only block X would be specially benefited by $1200. With the street and trail block X derives a special benefit to the extent of $600 above the value of the pink block. I do not consider the trail is an advantage to the property if it is in dispute. In my valuations I have always taken into consideration the jog of 10 feet on Jasper Avenue.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. Block X and the pink block with trail alone is worth $1500. The opening of McDougall street would benefit block A also the property along Jasper Avenue. Block X and pink block with 99 feet trail between "c" and "d" to Methodist church and Ross grade is worth $500 to $600.

Thos. Bellamy sworn, said. I have resided here 2 years and 6 months. Block X and the pink block, without any outlet to Jasper Avenue; but one to First street and the river would only be of use as a private residence, and worth $200 or $300. Under the same conditions and McDougall street extension the lots would be worth $250 each. Lots facing the cliff are as valuable as those on McDougall street. Lots on McDougall street are not desirable for residence. They would be more desirable for livery stable or blacksmith stands. If the trail is in dispute, the value of block X is the same as without a trail. With the trail and lot 1 and the 16 feet as a street the pink block and block X would be worth 8 lots at $200 each using the pink block as a lot. With the trail or no trail they would be worth $450. Block X, by my giving the pink block to continue McDougall street, would reduce the valuation 25 per cent without the trail. With or without the trail the opening of McDougall street is a special benefit to block X to the extent of $800 or $900. With an undisputed trail it would be one special benefit of $500 to block X. There would be a gain by an advantageous survey. Under any circumstances, by the opening of McDougall street the increased value of block X would be more than the pink block. In my calculations I was not considering the jog of 10 feet at Jasper Avenue; but it would not materially affect things.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. Block X and the pink block, with the trail only, would be eight lots at $200 per lot. It would benefit the corner lots on Jasper Avenue and benefit the whole town.

G. R. F. Kirkpatrick recalled says. With the trail McDougall street extension would be a special benefit to block X to the extent of $1000. With the trail in dispute and no extension of McDougall street, it would lessen the value of the property on the assumption that the trail was formerly in use. If no trail, or a disputed trail, the opening of McDougall street would especially benefit block X to the extent of $1000. My valuations have been made knowing the jog of 10 feet on Jasper Avenue.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. Special benefit means, special to the property itself; general benefit, to all properties. I call it special to blocks A and X and general to all others.

Matthew McCauley re-called says. A disputed trail would not add to the value of block X or the pink block. I would rather bury a trail than fight one. Assuming then there is a disputed trail or no trail and the jog in the extension of McDougall street, the special benefit to block X would be $1000. With the trail not in dispute, $600. This is over and above the value of the pink block.

C. Gallagher recalled says to Mr. Emery. If the trail ran within 20 feet 6 inches of point "a", block X and the pink block would decrease $400 from my former valuation if there was no McDougall street extension. A disputed trail is the same as no trail. If an undisputed trail exists and McDougall street is extended, block X gets a special benefit of $1000 for the extension. The special benefit is the same with the trail.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bown. Seeing that the east boundary of the pink block is 282 feet, I take off $300 of my valuation.

Mr. Bown here admits that Hulbert was paid by the town $1500 for lot 1 and $400 to Mr. Burns for the 16 feet without evidence to prove it.

The arbitration then adjourned until Friday at 2 p. m.
